

The peak of the Brawley cantaloupe season has been reached, with an estimated output of not more than 450 cars per day, 100 short of the peak days of last year. Honey Dews and Honey Balls seem to be in more demand than the cantaloupes, prices in New York registering in their favor.

Edwin Smith, foreign fruit and vegetable marketing specialist for the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, will soon be in California for a short visit. G. H. Hecke, director of agriculture, has been advised. Smith will tour the apple growing districts to confer with growers and shippers who export to Europe.

That California's canning cling peach crop estimate of 295,000 tons, compiled by the federal-state crop reporting service, was a conservative forecast was indicated by the tonnage estimated by Governor C. C. Young's peach crop survey committee at nearly the same time. Governor Young's committee, working separately, estimated the crop at 398,377 tons.

Much of the Coachella Valley onion crop will remain unharvested in the fields this year, according to R. W. Blackburn of Coachella, who reports that prices offered for onions are so low that many growers feel they cannot afford to go to the expense of harvesting them.

California may not produce quite enough Lima beans to feed the world, but it is doing its best. According to a statement made recently by the Ocean side, office of the California Lima Bean Growers' Association, the acreage planted to regular Limas in California this season totals 78,093 acres, of which 29,047 acres, or more than one-third, are on non-irrigated land. Ventura county leads in both classes with 33,370 irrigated and 9,051 non-irrigated. Orange county is next.

The market news service of the United States Department of Agriculture says most lines of green produce in California shows a condition as of May 25th about the same as in April; but an improvement of 1 or 2 per cent is reported in green peas, peppers, strawberries, early potatoes and watermelons. Lettuce, celery, onions and cantaloupes dropped off a point or two. The acreage intended to be planted in California with pimientos for canning shows an increase of over 725 acres, as compared with last year's acreage of 3,345. A tonnage of 10,475 was harvested from that acreage.

California will take a leading part, through the State Railroad Commission, in the battle against higher refrigerator rates for fruit shipments on all railroads to all Eastern points. This was determined a few days ago at a meeting of members and experts of the commission, and the Arizona Corporation Commission. California's rail body will lead in preparing and presenting evidence to the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings that will lead in preparing and presenting evidence to the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings that will be held on the Pacific Coast this fall.

Peaches—$25 a ton for the canning variety and $15 for "seconds." These are the prices fixed by the California Canning Peach Growers' Association for this year's crop. The prices were decided recently at a meeting in San Francisco and aimed to avoid repetition of the disastrous "peach war" that was waged between growers and canners in past years. The canners are expected to accept the prices and if they do growers will be able to realize a profit, it is pointed out. If they are not accepted, then "we will have to do something else," says the growers' association. The price fixed for first grade fruit is $2.50 a ton higher than the prevailing price last year.

California expects a bumper peach crop of 25,000,000 bushels, according to the Market News Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. Nine western states together may have 28,283,000 bushels or 45 per cent of the total, compared with about 50 per cent last season. Peach prospects are poorest in the intermediate group of states from Delaware through the Ohio Valley to Missouri. In the northern peach region, it is still too early for reliable forecast, but a rather large crop appears to be in prospect.

Golden State News of Interest to All

California will be represented at the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, O., August 26 to September 16, by a team of thirteen marksmen selected at competitive shoots, Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt has announced. Northern California riflemen will compete for places at Leona Heights, Oakland, and southern residents at Burbank. Both matches will be June 30 and July 1. M. C. Dolson, San Leandro, and N. E. Cutting, Los Angeles, have charge of the tryouts.

Six hundred and sixty-two game and fishing law violators gathered in by game wardens during the last three months of 1927 paid $20,905 for their offenses, and in addition some served jail sentences aggregating 1,035 days, the Fish and Game Commission has reported. The game case offenders numbered 431, the fines paid totaled $12,910 and the jail sentences 662 days. Fishermen paid $7,995 on 231 offenses and served 375 days.

On July 1 California will launch the first scientific attempt of the state government to cure and rehabilitate narcotic drug addicts. The first state narcotic hospital is to be opened on that date in Los Angeles county, a few miles from Pomona. Earl E. Jensen, state director of institutions, in direct charge of the new humanitarian undertaking, has secured the services of Dr. Thomas F. Joyce of New York City as medical superintendent of the hospital.

"When meaner and wickeder bucking horses are raised, Ukiah cowboys will ride them," is the slogan that comes from Ukiah as their seventh annual rodeo is nearing the starting date of July 1, 2, 3 and 4. Many well known performers will participate in this rodeo which will endeavor to revive the colorful early wild west days of three-quarters of a century ago, when the Redwood Empire was accessible only by horse trail and was inhabited by a few hardy western pioneers. Arrangements to house the crowds who are expected for this event are practically completed, the Redwood Highway Association announced.

Andrew J. Camous of San Francisco last week was proclaimed the grand noble arch of the Ancient Order of Druids at the ballot count at the state convention in session at Sacramento. Mt. Shasta was voted the 1928 convention, winning out over Chico and Bakersfield.

Eight thousand World War veterans, all members of the American Legion in California, will march in the parade which will be one of the features of the tenth annual convention, which will be held in Stockton, August 13-15, according to figures being gathered by the committee in charge of the arrangements for the convention.

A plan to organize a state system in California which would be the most up-to-date unit of its kind in America will be placed before the 1929 legislature, it was revealed last week. Charles E. Hand, former sheriff of El Dorado county, is the designer of the plan which will be presented to the legislature by Assemblyman H. E. Dillinger of Placer county and Percy West of Sacramento. Under the Hand plan the new department would be placed under the state division of motor vehicles and would incorporate the present state traffic officers, the fish and game wardens, many of the present county deputy sheriffs.

Twenty-five California millionaires died during the last year, but the Federal government still classes this state as fourth in the nation in number of men whose wealth has reached the $1,000,000 mark or better. This was announced recently by State Controller Ray L. Riley, who added that "California has become an outstanding market for securities as a result of the amount of wealth concentrated on the Pacific Coast." The largest estate handled by Riley's department during the last year in collection of inheritance taxes was that of Arabella Huntington of Los Angeles, approximately $20,000,000. During the last year, Riley said, the state government collected inheritance taxes totaling $11,000,000,000.

The longest non-stop flight in history will be attempted in July by Dr. Hugo Eckner, famous Zeppelin builder, who will pilot a huge dirigible from Friederichshafen, Germany, to the Pacific Southwest Exposition at Long Beach, a distance of approximately 10,000 miles. Definite word of Eckner's plan for this journey reached Mayor Oscar Hauge of Long Beach a few days ago and preparations were made to provide a temporary mooring mast at the exposition grounds. In attempting this remarkable air cruise, the dirigible will cross two-thirds of Europe, the Atlantic Ocean and the entire American continent.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS COMPOSES NEW SONG

Mr. Benjamin Edwards, popular singer-teacher-composer has just published a new Spanish fox trot song "Carmelita" which gives promise of "a hit." The music is also arranged for the ukelele and is being featured by Max Dolin and his broadcasting orchestra. A few copies are on sale at Smith's Stationery Store where local friends of Mr. Edwards may secure first edition copies.

Mr. Edwards has been elected dean of music at San Bernardino Junior College and left today with his family for Los Angeles where he will remain for two months mixing in music circles and getting acquainted with southern methods and customs.

ALSON YEAGER ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Yeager will be gripped to learn of the serious illness of their son, Alson Andrews Yeager. Mr. Yeager reported that his small son was on the up grade now and we all sincerely wish for his speedy recovery.

Charles Chapman of Pacific Grove and Mr. Wilson of San Jose were guests of Douglas Cutting at his home Saturday night.

Only 40 per cent of the normal prune crop is expected from the Biggs section, Butte county, in 1928 as a result of the storm last month, which bled the trees of blossoms. This is according to H. S. Brink, Sr., one of the leading prune growers of Butte county. The normal crop from Biggs and East Biggs, as determined from the number of tons shipped annually, runs to about 2,000 tons. Brink states, but only about 800 tons may be expected from that section this year.

If you are an average Californian—You drank 27.37 gallons of milk last year. Ate 2.9 gallons of ice cream. Spread 23.2 pounds of butter upon your bread. Consumed 6.64 pounds of ordinary cheese and three pounds of cottage cheese. Figures prepared last week by the bureau of dairy control of the state department of agriculture reveal that last year Californians had a keener appetite than ever before for dairy and creamery products. This is particularly true of butter, which shows an average consumption of ten pounds more in 1927 than in 1926. Ice

Hog raisers of the Visalia section received a total of $34,357.60 as result of five auction sales recently conducted under auspices of the California Farm Bureau Marketing Association, according to D. W. Bitner, secretary-manager of the organization. A top price of $9.05 was received at a sale conducted in Tulare. A total of 2492 hogs was disposed of by 136 consignors.

Information that 80 per cent of the rabbits raised in America are produced in Southern California, when received last week by the Compton Industrial, fur and rabbit show general committee, caused sponsors of the show to plan the annual exhibit on a somewhat larger scale. The event will take place May 1 to 7. In Southern California, the breeders, it was said, sell 20,000 rabbits each week for food purposes, and ship 25,000 to 100,000 pelts each month. The show, as planned by K. T. Hubbell, general chairman, will reflect this industry and celebrate industrial progress in Compton and vicinity.

That California fruit trees are highly prized abroad, and that no expense or pains will be spared to obtain them, was shown when the steamer Witram, of the North German Lloyd, sailed recently from San Francisco with a shipment of trees for Germany in her hold from the California Nursery Company of Niles, Alameda county. Owing to the strictness of the laws governing the importing of trees and plants into the country, it was necessary, before importing these trees, for Bernhard Nebel, the purchaser, who is a student under Dr. E. Bauer of the University of Germany, Berlin, to obtain special permission from the chancellor of Germany.

"PORT SAN JOSE" SUBJECT AT MEET

Although quite a few members are away on vacations a goodly number of Kiwanians gathered at the Community Hall last Tuesday for the first meeting of the summer season. The feature of the meeting was a talk by Wilber Henning on "Port San Jose." Mr. Henning explained the necessity of a port for San Jose and adjacent territory and pointed out the work that had been done and what was necessary to do before the matter could be submitted to Congress. He stated that practically all commercial organizations and service clubs in San Jose had endorsed the project and were helping spread the propaganda necessary to get everyone interested. "Within one mile of the mouth of the Guadalupe creek there is a channel 18 feet deep at low tide and as a 28-foot channel is all that is necessary for all shipping purposes it is readily apparent that very dredging is necessary," stated Mr. Henning, "and as to whether we can support a port if it is secured I want to point out that the committee believes there is enough tonnage now in sight and that a very large tonnage could be developed. Furthermore there is no question but that it will result in bringing a large number of manufacturers to this section that we have not been able to secure in the past because we were not able to offer them shipping facilities."

Ben Curry made a short report on his trip to the Seattle convention and will go into some of the business of the convention at next Tuesday's meeting, at which time Ed Weisendanger will also make his report.

Russ Kennedy was chairman and explained what a fellow can do if he don't bother about an education. Guy Farley will be chairman next Tuesday.

CAMPBELL PROUD OF STANFORD GRADUATE

Campbell again has cause to be proud of its young people. Among the few who were graduated with great distinction from Stanford University appears the name of Margaret Louise Wood, Miss Wood was a student at the Campbell Union High School for two years, but was graduated from the Pacific Grove High School. She has been very active in her work at Stanford and has continued her studies to obtain a master's degree. The friends of Miss Wood wish her the best of success.

CANNERIES START SUMMER SEASON

The Ainsley Cannery and the Geo. E. Hyde and Co. Cannery have started their summer work. Neither cannery has taken on their full force of workers for apricots as the run will undoubtedly be light. A very heavy run of both peaches and pears is expected in both canneries.

Hyde's cafeteria is now open and is very well liked. The Ainsley cafeteria will open shortly for business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Campbell entertained their children at a reunion on last Monday. The honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Campbell of Honolulu. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Everett Campbell of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Warren McKenzie of Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eddleman of Campbell.

PACIFIC TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH CO. RENDER FIRST AID

WINTERS, Calif., June 29.—In saving the life of William Vahney by prompt first aid methods, when the 13-year-old Oakland boy was apparently drowned, G. F. Mast, W. W. Herrington, E. M. Jauch and Tom Borick, linemen, recently demonstrated the value of instruction given to its plant department employees by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. Putah creek, the scene of the grim drama is located 11 miles north of this city.

While the linemen were proceeding in their truck along the road skirting Putah creek, they were attracted by the frantic shouts and signals of a small girl. Told of William's plight, Mast, the head linesman, seized the first aid kit, with which every telephone company truck is equipped, and with his companions rushed to the water's edge.

At the foot of a steep bank the linemen found Mrs. Earl Carter of Oakland holding her nephew's head barely out of the water and apparently dead. She had been unable to get him up on solid ground. Herthington carried the inert form to a level spot and started artificial respiration.

Mast, returned to the truck, hooked up a head-set to a nearby telephone line and called a doctor. Jauch loosened the boy's clothing, applied an ammonia inhalant and rubbed his legs to start circulation. Borick brought warm covering from an adjacent tent.

Artificial respiration was carried on for half an hour before William exhibited signs of life. When sufficiently recovered to be moved, the men carried him to a tent, removed his clothing and continued treatment until Dr. Thomas Cooper of Davis arrived. After a short inspection the doctor pronounced the boy out of danger.

HARBIDGE-FRAZIER

Mrs. Lillie Harbridge of Campbell became the bride of Mr. Edward Frazier on Wednesday, June 20. Mrs. Frazier has been with the Geo. E. Hyde & Co. for several years and has many friends in this community.

Mr. Frazier, formerly of Illinois is now mechanical engineer for the Santa Clara Preparatory School.

After the wedding the couple toured the coast for several days returning to Campbell where they will reside.

Congratulations and best wishes are extended to the happy couple.

CALRK-NELSON

On the evening of Monday, June 18, Miss Lillian Clark became the bride of Mr. Horace Nelson. Miss Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clark of San Jose. Mr. Nelson is the son of Mrs. J. Bannister of Campbell.

After the wedding, which took place at the Clark home on South 8th street, the friends and relatives enjoyed a reception in honor of the happy couple.

The bride and groom motored to the Russian river, where a two weeks' honeymoon will be spent. They will then return to San Jose and make their home on San Fernando street.

The hosts of friends of the happy pair wish to extend the heartiest of congratulations.

Mr. Chas. Pyle of Santa Clara is assisting Mr. A. B. Gilson in the Campbell Meat Market during the absence of Mr. Silva, who is ill.

H. G. KEESLING GRANGE SPEAKER

The names of our roads was under discussion at the grange Tuesday evening. The first road running southeast of the bridge in Campbell seems to have several names, but is mainly not known by any name.

Some thought it should be called Union road as it is practically a continuation of that road. That seems very reasonable. The road leading to Santa Clara west of town also is called names as well as Johnson avenue or Infirmary road. It would be much better and save a lot of confusion, if names could be settled on by the Board of Supervisors and that names be placed on sign boards in several places along the roads, so that the people would know what the official name was, all other names would soon be forgotten. It is hoped that some action will be taken in the matter.

Mr. F. E. Cary gave several selections on the violin accompanied by Miss Marian Temple on the piano, which was a fine opening for the lecturer's hour and was followed by an address by Franklin Hichborn on taxation. Why are taxes high? Extravagance has been charged, but Mr. Hichborn found the facts did not bear out that charge. He explained at some length that a large part of the State taxes that were formerly paid by corporations had been gradually shifted over on to farmers and landowners within late years and that these organizations preach economy while putting the taxes over on other shoulders. We are all for economy and that pleases and hoodwinks the masses while the job is being done. Santa Clara county has some of the ablest men in the State legislature and they should have the support of all honest citizens. This is a busy time, but Mr. Hichborn's talk was listened to with marked attention by a good audience.

Mr. H. G. Keesling talked on the Seaton orchards of Santa Rosa and his method of little pruning and of keeping up fertility by plowing under cover crops. Apples and prunes were especially mentioned as still producing splendid crops under this method of culture. The soil was quite heavy and evidently retained moisture well. Careful thinning of apples was also practiced.

Next meeting of the grange July 14.

SECRETARY YEAGER AT STATE CONVENTION

Mr. Dan Yeager, secretary of the Rural Mail Carriers of this district which includes Santa Cruz co., Santa Clara co., San Mateo co., Monterey co., San Benito co., and Alameda co., is hoping to attend the State convention of Rural Carriers at Santa Paula.

Whether he is able to go will depend on the condition of his young son. We all hope that he will be present at the convention which opens next Monday and continues through the week.

The friends of Charles Rose will be sorry to hear that he has been confined to his home for the past week with an attack of flu.

Mr. Maurice Church and Miss Vivian Clark both of Richmond were married in Santa Clara this week. Mr. Church is a nephew of Mrs. H. A. Baugh.

Miss Eva Mitchell underwent a very serious operation at the San Jose Hospital last Monday morning. The last word heard was that she was doing as well as could be expected and her friends all extend their sincerest sympathy and wish for her rapid recovery.

Recent reductions in electric rates authorized by the Railroad Commission, aggregating $2,000,000 a year, will benefit agricultural consumers largely. A reduction of $65,000 a year in agricultural rates in territory of Pacific Gas and Electric Company was due to the suggestion of the representative of the farm bureaus.

Shipments of green asparagus are increasing very rapidly from the delta section, especially from the shipping points, Hood, Locke, Walnut Grove, and Antioch. Friday, March 22nd, was the record day of the season to date. A total of forty carloads were shipped out on that day from the entire delta section.

The California Dairy Council has applied for membership in the American Dairy Federation. The Federation maintains offices at Washington, D. C. and, in addition to other services for the industry, scrutinizes national legislation. Through this tie-up, California will have direct contact with activities at the Capital affecting dairying.

Brawley, Imperial Valley, again leads the valley shipments of perishables for the season, beginning early last fall. More than 4000 cars had recently rolled from Brawley, according to the Southern Pacific records. During February alone 2164 cars of lettuce left the local yards.

Practical completion of the capri-fug survey of California has been accomplished, John Guyler, secretary of the State fig clean-up committee, Fresno, told the members at a recent meeting in the office of County Horticultural Commissioner Fred P. Roulard.

Immediate construction of a new machinery building at the State Fair grounds, to cost $108,000 was authorized at the meeting of the State Agricultural society at Sacramento, last week. The contract will be awarded by State Architect George B. McDougall, with the approval of Bert B. Meek, State director of public works. Faced brick, trimmed with stone, will be used to make the building harmonize with the other permanent buildings on the grounds.

State trade-marking of standardized California farm products is the basis upon which a panacea for agricultural ills may be built. Simon J. Lubin, president of the Sacramento Region Citizens' council, thus epitomized recently a forceful plea for establishment of a State bureau of trade and standards. While the plan to advertise and guarantee throughout the world California's State-stamped products was designed by the regional council primarily to assist the canned peach situation, Lubin pointed out that it may be applied profitably to all quality products in which California takes pride.

A new avenue of transportation for California citrus fruits and fresh vegetables to eastern markets is opened by the operation of the new liner

California of the Panama Pacific Line in the intercoastal service, according to Leo E. Archer, Pacific Coast manager of the company. When the California sailed from Los Angeles on February 20, she had on board 6800 boxes of oranges, and thirty tons of cauliflower, as experimental shipments to test out the liner's new electric cool-air and refrigerator cargo compartments. The steamer is reported to have arrived in New York on March 5, fourteen days later, with her cargo of perishables in good condition.

The farm value during 1927 of a group of the principal agricultural crops of California as published by the California Dairy Council shows that dairying leads them all. Oranges were the most important fruit crop in point of dollars and hay was the most valuable field crop: Dairy production, $79,621,300; oranges $67,620,000; Hay, (wild and tame), $65,946,000; grapes (total crop), $57,252,000; corn, wheat, Oats, barley, $46,821,000; beans, $13,028,000, and cotton $9,462,000. The table is based on reports of the United States Department of Agriculture Crop Reporting Service and the California Bureau of Dairy Control.

Experimental control of pear blight by means of the zinc chloride treatment developed last year at the University of California College of Agriculture by L. H. Day, will be continued this year at Davis. It is hoped that by improvement of method it will be possible to cure older cankers and treat smaller branches than is at present possible. A bulletin describing the method of treatment is now in preparation and will soon be ready.

Damage totaling at least $400,000 has been done to the Stanislaus county apricot crop by the recent storms, it was estimated last week by E. T. Hamlin, horticulturist, who made a survey of the flooded districts. Most of the damage will be from green rot, which set in after the soaking. Hamlin estimated that the Tilton crop on 4,000 acres had been damaged from 60 to 70 per cent. The total crop is valued at $700,000. The damage to apricots is said to be the only loss of fruit crops that can be directly attributed to the storm and flood. Loss of cattle was said to be small.

Van Nuys vegetable and truck crop growers have cause to rejoice in the failure of H. C. Lewis, assistant entomologist of the State Department of Agriculture, to locate the brown vegetable weevil in this district. Mr. Lewis has spent the last few weeks in Southern California making an exhaustive, but unsuccessful, search for this pest which has proved very troublesome on certain crops in counties of the San Francisco Bay region. So far the weevil has not been found in California on plants growing outside of the limited area in the northern district.

Low Cost Protection

WHEN the first safe deposit vaults were built a few decades ago the customer paid dearly for the privilege of renting a private box. The cost, in some cities, was forty dollars a year and upward, and the safeguards were nothing to boast of. Today a box in any vault of the American Trust Company may be rented for one-tenth of that cost, and the protection afforded valuable articles is the greatest that modern science has ever devised.

The greatest "Hook-up" of all

You sit down of an evening before "the best set in the world." You turn a switch, a dial and—marvelous!—you're getting a program from one of the local stations. You swing out a bit and you get a station five hundred miles away. Another turn of the dial and music "comes in" over perhaps thousands of miles.

But do you realize the vast scope of the hook-up that selects for you any one of the 18,500,000 telephones in the United States?

You place a local call and in a moment you are talking across the city. Another, and you talk across the continent. Swing out a bit and many points in Europe, Canada and Mexico are within instant reach of your voice.

Yes, it's the greatest hook-up of all. The creation of over half a century of concentrated research and development for the upbuilding of the world's greatest communication service—a service that is personal, that is fast, dependable and economical.

The smooth top

cooking utensils clean

When you are in your kitchen you put on an apron, even if your kitchen is spotlessly clean.

Gas is a clean fuel. However, a smooth top is built into the new Gas Range to give you added cleanliness.

The smooth top protects the gas burners from food that would otherwise boil over onto the burners. For clean burners mean clean heat. The smooth top distributes heat evenly and one burner keeps several vessels boiling. It sends products of combustion up the flue.

See the new Gas Range with the smooth top built into the range for added cleanliness. Enjoy this range's fine cooking.

Operation of automobiles by persons whose licenses have been revoked will not be tolerated by the state, and a maximum punishment of 90 days in jail will henceforth be sought for every motorist caught attempting to sidestep the law. Frank G. Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles, made this announcement a few days ago.

Attorney John P. Doran, who for the last six months has worked for the passage of the San Francisco Bay Bridge bills in Washington, arrived in San Francisco last week confident that the bills will be passed at the December session of Congress, and expressed the opinion that borings for the foundation will actually be in progress before this time next year.

Approximately $22,500,000 has been spent in purchase of 5000 homes and 250 farms for World War veterans who joined the colors in California, according to figures furnished by the State Veterans' Welfare Board. George M. Stout, secretary of the board, said that the statistics would indicate that comparatively few of the ex-service men were returning to the soil, but the board has been swamped with requests for assistance in home building.

Amendment of the crippled children's act to relieve those seeking aid under the statute from paying filing fees in connection with legal phases of the work, will be asked of the 1929 Legislature, the Department of Public Health has announced. The law provides medical and surgical attention for children whose parents or guardians are unable to help them, but before gaining aid a court certificate must be obtained.

California's total estimated daily average crude oil production fell off 2,800 barrels during the week ended June 16, figures released by the American Petroleum Institute show. The total estimated daily average crude oil production for the week of the report was 642,000 barrels as against 644,800 barrels for the week ended June 9.

Unless additional funds are provided, at least 10,000 California World War veterans seeking state aid in purchase of farms or homes will receive nothing. George M. Stout, secretary of the State Veterans' Welfare Board, announced this last week. He declared that present state bond funds for soldier aid will be exhausted by the end of this year and plainly indicated he believes another bond issue is justified.

California's memorial to her sons and daughters who served their country during the World War is to be unveiled with impressive ceremonies on July 24, under the auspices of the California State American Legion. Governor C. C. Young and Phil Dodson, state commander of the American Legion will be the principal speakers. This California memorial, already completed, is situated at the California-Nevada line in the Truckee canyon on United States highway line No. 40, and consists of an impressive masonry base surmounted by a bronze American eagle poised over its nest and young in an attitude of defense symbolic of that protection which the United States gave its sons and daughters.

Irving Martin, chairman of the state tax commission, announced last week that in all probability that body will arrive at a determination of a tax plan for intangible securities and state and national banks within the next few weeks, and will recommend that Governor C. C. Young call a special session of the state legislature to make the tax system immediately effective. At the present time there is no valid tax against banks and no taxation at all levied on intangible securities or solvent credits. The special legislative session, if called by the governor, probably will be held during the summer.

The state law creating the state pension commission, while setting July 1, 1928, as the date upon which that body should file its report with the legislature and the governor, is not necessarily mandatory in that provision. This opinion was given by Attorney General U. S. Webb last week to W. A. Johnstone, chairman of the commission. The opinion remarks that the report should be completed and filed as expeditiously as possible, but adds that it is not positively required that it should be filed on or before July 1st. It also states that the life of the commission extends only until such time as it completes its work.

Plans are now being prepared for the new Giannini Hall, $500,000 building given to the University of California by A. P. Giannini and the Bank of Italy for agricultural economics studies. Work on the structure will be started within a short time, an announcement in Berkeley a few days ago stated. The Giannini gift was made for the purpose of studying the problems of the California farmer, both as to production and disposal of crops. The Foundation is to establish a permanent institution, only the interest to be expended in the work of the research group to be gathered for the work.

Like waves in an ocean, unending in their advance, millions of young caterpillars marching south from Yreka a few days ago reached the environs of Mt. Shasta and began devouring plants in back yards. They came in droves and sheets, crawling inch by inch south, often swept along in groups of thousands for yards at a time by the winds along the highways and in the fields. In a few days the caterpillars will reach the pupa stage and then become butterflies, their plant and weed destroying ability vanishing with the arrival of winter.

With thirty-seven counties already listed among the exhibitors and three others negotiating for space, California's annual fair, September 1 to 8, will feature every one of the state's 143 commercial crops, it was announced at Sacramento.

The annual Tulare county citrus institute, to be held at Lindsay September 21, is expected to draw delegations of growers from all parts of California. On September 22, a field day will be held, thus permitting the visitors to inspect Tulare county groves. The program will include discussions on soil moisture, thrip control, orchard heater operation, and new developments in fertilization.

Plans have been completed covering all details of the first annual California livestock and baby beef show, to be held in November at the Union Stockyards, South San Francisco. A feature of the show, in addition to customary exhibits, will be the junior division, with entries from boys' and girls' clubs and Smith-Hughes foundation.

Between twelve and fifteen cars of celery are being shipped daily from the Venice district, and the season has been a very satisfactory one. About 350 cars have been sent out by the Venice Celery Distributors since the first of the year. There is a considerable quantity of celery yet to be cut, and shipments will continue until the crop from New York and other Eastern states comes on the market. Other points from which celery is now being shipped are Lomita, Sawtelle, Culver City and Palms.

Every variety of California tree and vine crops shows an increase in acreage this year over last, with the exception of lemons and table and raisin grapes. This is announced by E. E. Kaufman, chief of the California Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. Of the three general classes of grapes, wine grapes alone reveal a gain over 1927. With a total of 173,601 acres of bearing wine grapes, the crop is approximately 6,500 acres greater than last year. The table grape area has decreased from 144,524 acres to 141,133 acres, while raisin grapes show a shrinkage from 346,985 acres to 341,725 acres. California this year has 42,864 acres of lemons, against 43,179 last year.

While prices for Tulare county Valencia's dropped a bit after cantaloupes, berries and other fresh fruits came on the market, they held up remarkably well and the season will be one of the best in the history, growers say. The week ending June 9th saw between 145 and 150 cars moving from Tulare county, practically cleaning up the crop except for scattering shipments. On Monday, May 28, the Tulare County Fruit Exchange sold thirty five cars in eastern markets, the value being $117,060.95. This averaged $7.31 per packed box for all sizes and grades, or around $4.91 per packed box net to the grower. The crop will all be marketed around July 1.

Rather than accept low prices offered by canners, apricot growers of the Terra Bella district, more than twenty-five in number, are marketing independently, shipping fresh fruit and drying the remainder of the crop. They refused to deliver fruit at a porterville cannery, which quoted $30 for No. 1 and $15 for No. 2 fruit. They made their first shipment to Los Angeles, sending five tons, for which they received $90 per ton gross, or $82 per ton net to the grower.

The tractor and implement exhibit at the California State Fair, September 1st to 8th, will be the largest in the history of the exposition. This was the word received recently by Charles W. Paine, secretary of the State Agricultural Society, from W. V. Freeman, secretary of the Tractor and Implement Club of California. Thirty thousand square feet of space in the new Machinery Building will be devoted to tractor and implement displays. Freeman informed Paine that the club voted unanimously to send a delegation of fifteen to the cornerstone laying of the new building on June 27th. Copies of agricultural publications containing articles and pictures of the new building, and a roster of members of the Tractor and Implement Club will be placed in the cornerstone by the club's delegation.

Fire started by a spark from a tractor burned a swathe eight miles long through rich ranches in the Arbutle district, Colusa county, and caused damage estimated at $200,000 to buildings, grain and equipment. The flames were fanned by a strong hot, north wind. Fire departments from a dozen towns between Arbutle and Colusa rushed in their equipment to help fight the flames. At one time it was estimated that more than 1500 persons were in the battle against the fire. Six good-sized ranches were almost wiped out—grain and buildings.

California's wheat crop this year is expected to run 15,114,000 bushels, an increase over 13,642,000 bushels in 1927. This is the estimate of E. E. Kaufman, state-federal agricultural statistician, based on a survey of the situation this month. Condition of California wheat was 84 per cent of normal on June 1. At the same time last year it was 88 per cent, but the average for the last ten years has been only 80. Granting no further abandonment of acreage takes place, 453,420 tons, Kaufman says, is a fair 1928 production forecast.

Text books in use in California elementary and high schools are free from the propaganda of power trusts or any other organizations, in the opinion of Sam H. Cohn, deputy state superintendent of public instruction. Selection of the books is made only after a thorough investigation by the text book committee for just such propaganda, Cohn said. "If anybody can show us that there is any objectionable material in any book in use in California schools, we will take steps to eliminate it," the school man stated.
